LOTS OF WATER—AND DEBRIS—is flowing past Shawneetown these days as the Ohio river is high from recent rains. However the river is far from being dangerously high as far as the village of Shawneetown is concerned, but much of the lowlands outside the levee are under water. Friday afternoon, when the above picture was taken, the river's edge was at approximately the point where the old ferry road made the sharp turn at the foot of the levee. However, the height of the river will have no effect on traffic across the river at Shawneetown now as the fine, modern bridge in the background has replaced the historic ferry that carried vehicles across the river for so many years. Fuel Shortage Imminent in New York Area; City Plans Rationing

Pessimistic About Early End To Tugboat Strike

NEW YORK (AP)—A serious fuel shortage in the Greater New York area was imminent today following the collapse of negotiations in the nine-day tugboat strike.

As reports of fuel oil shortages poured into police headquarters, fuel distributors warned that oil supplies were reaching a critical stage.

Distributors agreed that their supplies will be exhausted by early next week. But a spokesman for the oil industry said a sudden change from the relatively mild weather the area has been experiencing would result in "utter chaos."

Hundreds of appeals already have been received for fuel, including four from hospitals and two from homes for the aged. Nearly 300 were received from apartment houses.

City Plans Rationing
Rationing machinery and other emergency measures, already set up by the city, were expected to be placed into effect shortly. A quick settlement appeared unlikely, following a break down of bargaining talks Friday.

Leaders of the striking tug and barge crewmen and the employers' group were pessimistic over an early end to the work stoppage which has cut off 70 per cent of the fuel deliveries to New York.

"A very serious impasse has developed," according to one of the federal mediators who, with city mediators, have been trying to resolve the contract dispute that has immobilized 400 tugboats, barges, tankers and other craft in New York harbor.

No further negotiations were scheduled, thus assuring that the crippling strike will extend until next week.

Adding to the woes of the nation's largest port was the virtual certainty that 25,000 longshoremen would quit their jobs here Tuesday afternoon when an 80-day cooling off injunction expires.

Pump Water Into Reservoirs

Creeks were high today and water was being pumped into the standby reservoirs north of town from Middle Fork creek.

Pumping started late yesterday morning, with all three pumps going, and continued until 6 a. m. today when the water got bad. However, the water cleared up again and pumping was resumed at 7:30 a. m.

Rainfall in Harrisburg between 7 a. m. yesterday and 7 a. m. today measured .27 inch.

Kentucky Man Killed in Crash Near Marion

MARION, Ill. (AP)—A Kentucky man was killed instantly today when his car collided with a tractor-trailer ten miles south of here on Illinois 37.

Authorities identified the victim as 36-year-old Harlan C. Nunley, a steamfitter from Route 1, Gilbertsville.

Williamson County Deputy Sheriff Dean West said Nunley's car came across the center-line and collided with a truck driven by Harvey N. Neal of Mount Vernon. Neal suffered a slight leg injury and was taken to Marion Memorial Hospital.

Reports Show Girls' Deaths Due to Exposure

CHICAGO (AP)—Medical reports on two teen-age sisters found dead in a ditch indicate they froze to death in near-zero temperatures.

Three pathologists and a poison expert told newsmen Friday that by a process of elimination they believed the deaths were caused by "secondary shock resulting from exposure."

The stripped and frozen bodies of Barbara Grimes, 15, and her 13-year-old sister, Patricia, were found in a forest preserve ditch Jan. 22. They had been missing from their home since Dec. 28, when they had left to see an Elvis Presley movie for the 11th time.

The medical reports showed the girls had not been sexually assaulted, nor was any trace of alcohol found in their bodies.

These facts directly refuted a Skid Row dishwasher's "confession" of how the girls were slugged to death after a week-long alcohol-soaked sex orgy. Edward L. (Benny the Dishwasher) Bedwell, an itinerant vagrant and patron of flophouses, later repudiated his confession and is currently free on bond.

The pathologists agreed with poison expert Dr. Walter Camp, who placed the time of the girls' deaths at about midnight Dec. 28. They failed to explain, however, how the bodies remained well-preserved for more than three weeks until they were found in the ditch.

Death Takes Charles Melton, 73

Charles Melton, 73, died yesterday at 7:45 p. m. at his home, 904 South Land.

He is survived by his wife, Ona Mae, and one son, Charles, also several nieces and nephews.

The body was taken to the Turner funeral home.

Barter, Symonds Low on Joint Bid

A joint bid by the J. D. Barter Construction Co. of Harrisburg and E. T. Symonds of Carbondale was low on airport construction at Springfield, it was learned today. Their bid was $393,015.40 to extend a runway 1,000 feet on each end and to construct a new apron at the Capital airport in Springfield.

Benjamin O. Cooper, Former State Auditor, Is Seriously Injured

TROY, Ill. (AP)—A former Illinois state auditor, Benjamin O. Cooper, was seriously hurt Friday night when his auto crashed into the rear of an auto transport truck near here.

Cooper, 53-year-old Democratic politician who lives in Belleville, is in a Highland hospital with head and internal injuries. He served as auditor from 1945 to 1952.

The accident occurred on U. S. 66 north of Troy. The truck driver, Albert N. Pipkin, Overland, Mo., was not hurt.

C. O. Flanders Dies Suddenly

Prominent Eldorado Man Collapses While Entering Hospital

C. O. "Ossie" Flanders, 53, prominent Eldorado resident, died suddenly of a heart attack at 3:30 p. m. yesterday. He became very ill at his home and he and his wife were entering the Pearce hospital when he collapsed and died.

Mr. Flanders was quite active in the Eldorado Presbyterian church, serving as an elder for many years and was at the time of his death the newly elected president of the Brotherhood. He was also a member of the Masonic lodge, the Lions club and the Elks club.

He is survived by his wife, Louise Turner Flanders; a son, Charles H. Flanders of Granite City, and one granddaughter, Cheryl Lynn Flanders, also of Granite City; also two brothers, Harry J. Flanders and Herbert E. both of Eldorado, and two sisters, Mrs. Alta Crawford of Eldorado, and Mrs. Gertrude Henderson of Louisville, Ky.

The body was taken to the Eldorado funeral home and later today will be returned to the residence. Services will be held Monday at 2 p. m. at the Eldorado Presbyterian church with the pastor, Rev. Austin Heuer, officiating. Burial will be in Sunset Lawn cemetery.

Charge Four Guardsmen with Ammunition Theft

CHICAGO (AP)—Three of four members of the Illinois National Guard charged with stealing ammunition from Camp Ripley, Minn., while at a two-week training camp were free on bond today.

The four accused men—all members of the 131st Infantry—are Henry B. Ford, 50, of Leyden Township, a chief warrant officer; William Blum, 42, Brookfield, warrant officer junior grade; Richard Solario, 27, Chicago, a sergeant; and Richard B. Zeh, 22, Oaklawn, another sergeant.

They were arrested by the FBI after an unidentified man became suspicious of Zeh, who tried to sell him a large amount of 30-30 ammunition. Asst. U. S. Attorney Donald Lonchar said.

Lonchar said the amount of ammunition taken was still to be determined.

Saud Heads for Home with New U. S. Agreement

WASHINGTON (AP)—King Saud of Saudi Arabia headed homeward today in "full agreement" with President Eisenhower on measures to defend the Middle East against aggression.

Highlights of the outcome of the two-week Saud visit are a new five-year lease granting American use of the vital Dahrhan Air Base and an agreement for delivery of American arms to Saudi Arabia.

Saud and his closest advisers planned to board President Eisenhower's personal plane today for a trans-Atlantic flight to Madrid. Nixon Dulles Bid Goodbye

Vice President Richard M. Nixon and Secretary of State John Foster Dulles planned to be at the airport to say goodbye to the brown-robed king and his royal party. Mr. Eisenhower left the capital Friday for Thomasville, Ga., immediately after holding his final bargaining session with Saud.

The 55-year-old king will pay a four-day state visit to Spain before flying to Cairo for important talks with Egyptian, Syrian and Jordanian leaders.

A few of the king's advisers remained here to conduct "further negotiations" with the United States on the amount of arms Saudi Arabia will get under the new agreement.

Weapons will include jet planes and tanks. Their value is expected to be far short of the $200 million to $250 million worth hoped for in advance by the king. But U. S. officials would not put a price tag on the arms deal.

Talks also will be continued here on economic aid for Saudi Arabia which the United States agreed to consider. One of the proposed aid projects is development of the port of Damman, which is near the $50 million U. S. base at Dahrhan.

United States officials said they had been unable to get the king to change the provision of the 1951 Dahrhan Air Base agreement which has the effect of barring American servicemen who are Jews.

Tracy L. Bryant, Retired Member of SIU Faculty, Dies

Tracy L. Bryant, 63, retired real estate agent of Carbondale and a retired member of the faculty of the Southern Illinois University, a position he held for 30 years, died in the Doctors hospital in Carbondale yesterday at 9:30 p. m.

The body is at the Van Natta funeral home in Carbondale. Funeral services will be held Sunday at 2 p. m. at the Carbondale First Baptist church. Rev. Loral Grigg will officiate and burial will be in the Oaklawn cemetery at Carbondale.

Mr. Bryant's son, Tracy, formerly resided in Harrisburg.

Gov't Economists Report Employment 'Slows Down'

Say Nothing to Be Alarmed About as Job Expansion Slackens; See Upswing

WASHINGTON (AP)—Government economists said today that U. S. employment definitely has "slowed down" and bears careful watching the next few months.

The economists speculated that the decline in homebuilding has hurt employment prospects in some industries. But they said there is nothing "to be alarmed about" now even though the big job expansion of the past two years has slackened for the time.

The economists are watching to see what happens this spring. They predicted an upswing in employment within the next few months.

However, they said there appears to be at least some temporary employment weak spots in the clothing, radio and television, furniture and fabricated metals industries.

Employment figures released by the Commerce and Labor Department Friday showed that the U. S. labor force was no larger in January than it was a year ago. The economists concluded this was only a "temporary phenomenon."

The figures showed the total number of jobholders dropped by 1,660,000 persons between December and January to 62,890,000.

It was the first month since March, 1955, that employment failed to show a year-to-year gain and the largest monthly decline since January 1949, a period of economic recession.

The departments blamed the drop—the substantial decline in farm employment over the year.

Non-farm employment they noted, was still at a record level for the month, totaling 57,947,000 persons—691,000 more than a year ago.

Group Favorably Impressed with City During Tour

Officials Outline Factors Considered For Federal Prison

A two-man prison site committee yesterday inspected sites south of Harrisburg in Saline and Pope counties and gave opinions that some of the spots seen were of the type that would be suitable for the federal maximum security type prison the government is going to build some place in a four-state area.

The two men gave local advocates a picture of what the government was looking for, and quite a number of factors are involved.

Arriving here yesterday morning were J. A. Mayden, senior administrative officer, U. S. Bureau of Prisons, and Roy Guenzel, field inspector, both attached to the federal penitentiary at Terre Haute, Ind.

Before inspecting the proposed sites the two were taken on a tour of Harrisburg and they were outspoken in their impressions of the city. From remarks they made they liked the number and size of the schools, the churches, the apparent recreational facilities, lodging facilities, and transportation and communication facilities.

Sites Closer to Town
They came here as a result of a site proposal submitted by J. D. Barter on are owned by him and others in Pope and Hardin counties 16 miles south of Harrisburg but inspected possible sites on Route 145 south of Mitchellville as well.

At a gathering before the group set out for the inspections Mr. Barter told them that although he had submitted a proposal on his site, that the closer to Harrisburg a site would be chosen was what he wanted.

Mr. Mayden gave some background material to the group, declaring that the U. S. Bureau of Prisons sent out invitations to areas inviting site proposals for a prison that was planned to be built in southern Illinois, southwestern Kentucky or Tennessee, that this walled institution would be built to house about 600 prisoners at a cost of from eight to ten million dollars.

Plateau Site Favored
Needed, he continued, was 600 to 1,500 acres with a clear-vision buffer zone out about a half mile from the wall in each direction.

He said an ideal location would be one with a plateau on which the buildings and walls would be constructed with a not-too-steep incline going down from the plateau.

He said the government wanted a southern exposure as far as the front of the building is concerned, and told of the factors that are being considered, aside from the topography of the land.

There must be water available as the institution will use about 48 million gallons a year, he stated.

Special Farm Meeting at City Hall Wednesday

Farm Adviser L. B. Kimmel has arranged a program for Wednesday, Feb. 13, starting at 9:45 a. m. at the city hall in Harrisburg, at which time R. J. (Bob) Webb, director of Dixon Springs Experiment station, and Dr. M. E. Mansfield, U. of I. veterinarian at Dixon Springs, will discuss matters of timely interest to the farmers of this area.

Mr. Webb will discuss livestock experiments, pasture improvements, feeding and pricing of beef cattle.

Dr. Mansfield will talk about animal diseases and the problems of how to feed livestock for market and realize a reasonable profit.

A question and answer period will follow the talks and Mr. Kimmel especially invites anyone interested in learning of sound methods to meet the ever-increasing problems of today's rapidly changing scenes in farming.

DUANE LOVELLETTE, HTHS agriculture student, was presented a $15 check during an assembly program Friday at the high school as the HTHS Winner in the essay contest sponsored by the Saline County Soil Conservation District. The presentation was made by Lowell Wise, director of the district. All students participating in the essay contest were awarded ribbons. Tom Morgan, work unit conservationist, spoke briefly on the purposes of the soil conservation district and E. J. Thompson and John Schork of the HTHS faculty were in charge of the program. Portugal to Ensure Privacy for Royal Couple's Second Honeymoon

LISBON, Portugal (AP)—Portuguese authorities said today they were taking discreet measures to ensure Queen Elizabeth II and the Duke of Edinburgh complete privacy next week for their two-day "second honeymoon."

The British royal couple will be reunited at the windswept airbase of Montijo on Feb. 16 and then will "disappear" from the eyes of the world for two days together before they start a state visit here on Feb. 18.

It was understood they would spend the time as guests of the Duke of Palmella in his 40-room country home overlooking the sea off the Arrabida coast 30 miles south of Lisbon. The Duke of Palmella is former ambassador to the Court of St. James.

Their Longest Separation
The separation of the queen and her husband—more than four months—has been the longest since their marriage. Prince Philip left England Oct. 14 for the Australian Olympics and an around-the-world cruise.

Philip will arrive at the sardine fishing port of Setubal Feb. 15 aboard the royal yacht Britannia. Elizabeth advanced her plans to fly to Portugal the next day to meet him.

Reports of a "rift" between Queen Elizabeth and the duke brought a flat "It's a lie" Friday night from the queen's press secretary, Cmdr. Richard Colville, official spokesman of Buckingham Palace.

"Another Woman" Denied
The terse but outspoken denial followed reports in the Baltimore Sun that the royal couple was at odds over "another woman." Members of the royal family often have been the subject of many and varying rumors, but Buckingham Palace reacted with unusual speed to this latest report.

Britain's press, by unanimous agreement, ignored the report of the rift completely, obviously taking the position that the rift rumor was too ridiculous to put in print.

Arch M. Miller Dies Near Harco

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

My son was lost is found.—Luke 15:24.
The father of the prodigal son in the parable reveals the kind of God we can love! Ancient theologians made God appear as a relentless tyrant diligently searching for imperfections that would justify Him in horrible reprisals. In truth He is a Father eagerly hoping that we will return to the Father's house and love.

Hobo Becomes a Bum

It's a little early for talk of baseball even among those who imagine that if you turn TV on in winter you'll just get a picture of an empty ball park. But sometimes events simply demand attention.

In that category is the Brooklyn Dodgers' signing of the famed circus clown, Emmett Kelly, who for many years has transfixed circus audiences with the hurt look of a wounded moose.

Kelly's assignment isn't too clear, but apparently it's to be rather taxing. He's been asked to show up for spring training in Florida a few weeks hence.

He's an old hand with pool balls, and possibly with a quick switch to baseball he can look pretty tricky and amusing on the field in almost no time.

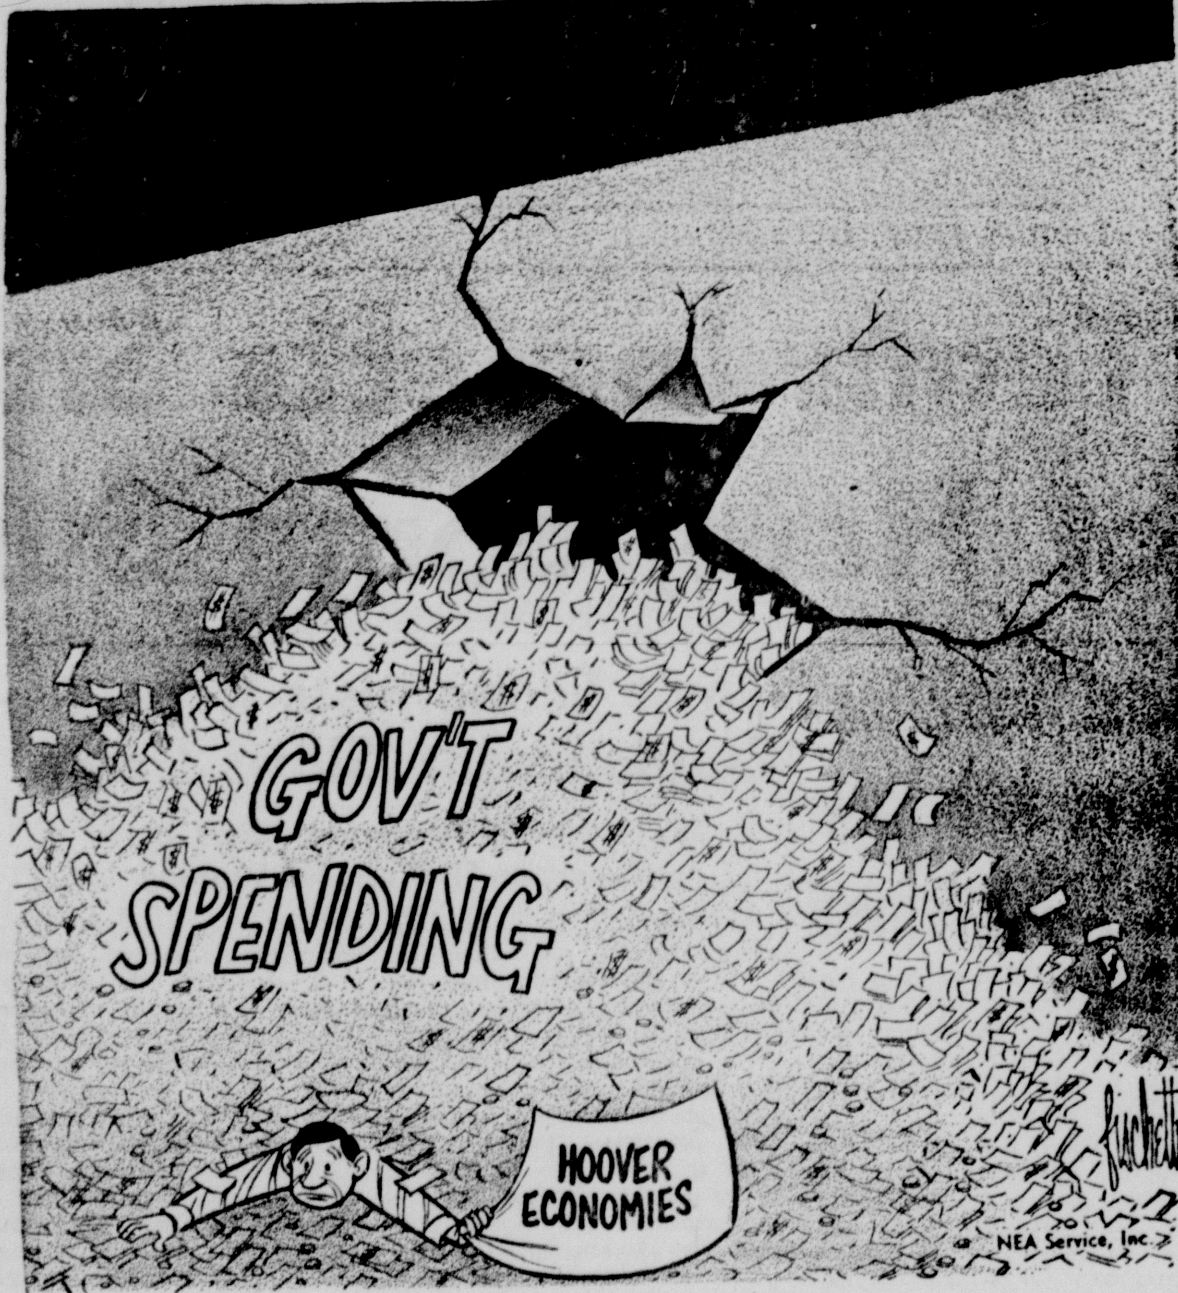

Other clowns have worked for baseball teams, but they had been players first. The most noted, of course, were Al Schacht and Nick Altrock, who cavorted for the Washington Senators.

Some baseball sages would go so far as to suggest there have been quite a few unintentional clowns on the field, too. And they would add that the Dodgers have had perhaps more than their share.

Kelly may feel quite at home with the fabled Bums. And don't be surprised if that days comes when the announcer says: "Emmett Kelly now playing left field for Brooklyn."

Rapid industrialization of India has prompted plans for boosting annual coal production from the present 38,000,000 tons to 60,000,000 by the close of the country's second Five-Year Plan. Some authorities believe it will be necessary to step up India's coal output to as much as 150,000,000 tons a year to keep pace with its industrialization.

Home Use of Electricity Heading for Big Upsurge

By PETER EDSON

WASHINGTON—(NEA)—An increase of between 300 and 400 per cent in the use of electricity in American homes and industry by 1980 is forecast in a new, revised estimate of future U. S. power requirements made by Federal Power Commission.

Translating these consumption into dollar requirements to build the additional generating capacity, Secretary of Interior Fred A. Seaton has released estimates. It will take 40 billion dollars to finance this expansion over the next 10 years. For the next 20 years, the cost is estimated at 94 billion dollars.

Where will all this future power come from? Other FPC studies indicate that 8 1/2 per cent of the total will come from hydroelectric, 77 per cent from conventional fuel plants and 14 1/2 per cent from atomic energy.

If the expected growth in home consumption of electricity that will be of most interest to the average person.

The average U. S. home today uses less than 3,000 kilowatt hours of electricity a year, says the FPC report. But it points out that the completely electrified home—of which there are relatively few today—consumes 20,000 to 25,000 kwh.

FPC experts studied the use of some 20 electric appliances to make their estimates on future home consumption.

It was calculated 14 per cent of U. S. homes might be electrically heated by 1980.

Faster growth of the electric home-heating industry will be held back because for the next 25 years at least, the cost of electricity will be higher than the cost of competitive fuels, in most parts of the country.

Other increased uses of electricity in the home were forecast for water heating, air cooling, ranges, refrigerators, television sets, freezers and clothes dryers in that order.

There are close to 49 million farm and nonfarm homes in the U. S. today, with a population of over 165 million. By 1980, population may reach 228 million and homes may number 60 million.

Farm and nonfarm residential consumption of electricity is expected to increase from a total of 135 billion kwh. in 1955 to an estimated 493 billion kwh. by 1980.

"With rising population," says the FPC report, "the residential classification may be at some time in the distant future overtake the industrial use."

As compared to the 49 million residential customers of electricity today, there are only a few hundred thousand industrial users and some six million commercial users—stores, service establishments and the like.

The number of commercial users is expected to increase by more than 50 per cent, to 9.5 million by 1980. Their electric power consumption is estimated to jump from an average of 13,000 kwh. to 28,000 kwh. per user. Their total consumption will jump from 81 billion kwh. a year to 272 billion kwh. by 1980.

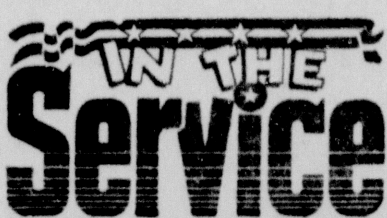

Industrial users are, of course, the big customers. The top 10 per cent use 90 per cent of the power.

A steel mill needs 20,000 kilowatts capacity, an aluminum reduction plant 400,000. The biggest atomic energy plants need two million kwh. capacity.

All industrial users, including those that generated their own power, consumed 326 billion kwh. in 1955. But the estimated industrial power use in 1980 is a whopping 808 billion kwh.

For all classes of users—home, commercial, industrial and producers of power for their own use—consumption of electricity was 533 billion kwh. in 1955. For 1980 it is expected to be over the trillion mark—an estimated 1,820 billion kwh.

To get these figures down to a more understandable level, per capita consumption of electricity for all purposes was 531 kwh. in 1955. It more than doubled in the next 10 years and was over seven times as great—3,782 kwh. in 1965. By 1980, according to present predictions, it may reach 8,000 kwh. a year for every man, woman and child in the country.

HOW ABOUT IT, KIDS?—In which of these two pictures do these high schoolers look more attractive—and self-respecting? At the James N. Kieran Jr. High School in New York City, the student council itself voted to ban the sloppy outfits seen in the top picture. The council voted approval of conservative clothing such as that in the lower photo. Students doing the modeling are, left to right: Stephen Bruno, Marilyn Miller, Leonore Chubinsky and George Klein.

Actress Susan Hayward Weds

PHOENIX, Ariz. (UP)—Actress Susan Hayward and Floyd Eaton Chalkley today were en route to a New Orleans honeymoon.

The 39-year-old Brooklyn-born actress and Chalkley, 48, a lawyer in his hometown of Carrollton, Ga., were married Friday in a brief ceremony before Justice of the Peace Stanley Kimball.

Former Glendale Resident Dies

Mrs. Bruce Allard, 67, former resident of the Glendale community died Wednesday night at Chester, Ill.

After services today at 10 a. m. at the Strader funeral home in Chester, the body will be taken directly to the cemetery at the Glendale Methodist church where a graveside service will precede burial at 2 p. m. today.

She was an aunt of J. F. Harper of Harrisburg.

Two Women, Man Face Charges Of Extortion

GENEVA, Ill. (UP)—Two women and a man awaited trial today on charges of extorting $6,170 from seven persons by playing on their sympathies or threatening their reputations.

Mrs. Marie C. Fuller, 55, of nearby Aurora; Miss Donna MacEllis, 44, Joliet; and Robert Brickert, 44, Big Rock, all pleaded not guilty at their arraignment here Friday.

Circuit Judge Roy J. Solisburg set trial for March 18.

A Kane county grand jury earlier returned a total of 16 indictments against the three on charges of operating a confidence game and extortion.

One Chicago man claimed Mrs. Fuller and Brickert obtained money from him by threatening to reveal his alleged link with an abortion.

Another man said he gave them money supposedly to pay an attorney's fee because Miss Ellis told him she was pregnant and needed a divorce in order to marry Brickert.

Mrs. Fuller served a three-year prison sentence in West Virginia for impersonating a federal officer and conspiracy.

President in South for Quail Hunting, Golf

THOMASVILLE, Ga. (UP)—President Eisenhower settled down today for a week of quail hunting and golf. And it became increasingly evident that he will meet with British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan soon.

The White House officially dodged comment on the proposed meeting of the two chiefs of state, but sources said the only question remaining is where and when the two will meet.

Mr. Eisenhower flew here Friday from Washington for a week or ten-day vacation at the Milestone Plantation of Treasury Secretary George M. Humphrey.

Former Regent Of Hungary Dies

LISBON (UP)—Adm. Nicholas Horthy, former regent of Hungary, died today at his home in Estoril. He was 88.

Horthy died of a heart attack resulting from asthma.

The Admiral ruled Hungary for 24 years until his abdication in 1944. He saw his country virtually taken over by the Nazis and, after his abdication, overrun by the Communists.

The last years of his life were spent in a modest villa at Estoril, near Lisbon, with a few members of his family. There he completed his memoirs entitled "My Life for Hungary."

37,751 Illinois School Personnel Receive X-Rays

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (UP)—Through the services of the mobile units of the state Department of Public Health, 37,751 Illinois teachers and other school personnel received x-rays of the chest during the first six months of 1956, according to a report released here today by Dr. Roland R. Cross, state health director.

Out of this total number of chest x-rays, 357 films showed evidence of pathology suggestive of tuberculosis, either active or inactive.

In addition to the suspicious cases of tuberculosis, the x-rays revealed 302 cardiac conditions and 16 possible tumors of the chest. Listed also in the report were 758 films showing abnormal pathology considered to be the result of previous infections; other than tuberculosis.

The average age of the group x-rayed, which included teachers, nurses, bus drivers, food handlers and other personnel, was slightly more than 43 years. The group included 14,214 males and 23,537 females.

That tuberculosis is more prevalent among men than among women is indicated by the report, which shows the rate of suspicious cases among males higher by more than 60 per cent than the rate among females. Of 14,214 males x-rayed, 179 showed evidence of tuberculosis, while among the female group of 23,537, a total of 178 suspicious cases were discovered.

"The x-raying of this particular group of our population is a result of legislation enacted in 1955 prohibiting the employment in Illinois schools of persons suffering from tuberculosis in a communicable form," Dr. Cross said.

NYC Train Rams Freight on World's 'Safest Track'

RIPLEY, N. Y. (UP)—Crewmen worked today to clear the wreckage of 32 derailed cars from an electronically-controlled stretch of track, described as the "world's safest," where a New York Central passenger train collided late Friday with a freight train, killing an engineer.

Railroad investigators were mystified by the wreck which blocked both tracks on the New York Central's main line in this southwestern New York community, 20 miles from Erie, Pa. One of the 75 passengers aboard The Easterner was slightly injured.

The engineer of the passenger train, J. B. Miller, 65, of Cleveland, was killed when he leaped from the cab an instant before the crash at a switch-over point, operated electronically from Erie.

Arrested

Frank Cox of Ridgway was charged with reckless driving today following his arrest yesterday by State Policeman Guthrie Alexander on Route 142 two miles south of Eldorado.

Obsolete Bombs Being Destroyed

DENVER (UP)—Highly specialized teams at the Rocky Mountain Arsenal are systematically destroying obsolete M-69 napalm incendiary bombs, Col. William A. Johnson, acting commander of the Army Chemical Corps at the arsenal has disclosed.

Johnson says destruction of the 30,000 500-pound bombs and 188,000 M-47, 100-pound napalm bombs would take at least two years. The large bombs will be destroyed after all the M-69s are disassembled and burned, he said. "The bombs are obsolete," Johnson said, "and there is no alternative but to destroy them. Storage costs are prohibitive and we've had them on hand too long. We have no further use for them."

The steel casings which hold the napalm mixture are being salvaged and sold for scrap. The mixture is being burned in a deep pit.

Johnson said only a few of the bombs can be destroyed each day.

Prison Team Inspects Sites South of Here

ed. There must be adequate fuel (and he said he understood both coal and gas were plentiful in the area). There is an interest in community facilities for the benefit of prison employees. There is a need for good transportation and communication facilities, with airports not being as big a factor as trains and buses.

The ideal location he said, is three to five miles outside a city, that when the location is past ten miles, more housing on the grounds is needed and a problem of visitors getting to prisoners is created.

One of Five Teams
He said he definitely could not answer questions on the relative merits of various sites. Big reason, he stated, is that he and Mr. Guenzel comprise only one of five teams that have been going through the region; so they don't know what the others have seen.

All teams will send in reports on provided forms on sites inspected. He said the prison would prefer not to generate its own power, that preferences would be for it to come from two separate sources, so that if one source was out of operation, there would be the other.

Reason for big acreage desired, he said, is so that the land around the prison could be controlled for two reasons: To cover the area in case of an escape attempt; and to keep people and building projects from getting too close to the prison.

He said that if a site was being considered seriously, options on the land would be just as good as outright acquisition.

He said it would be about 15 months until construction is begun, once the site is chosen, and that it would be at least two and a half years before the prison could be occupied.

Births

To Mr. and Mrs. Bob Foster, 1909 Locust street, Eldorado, a girl named Cindy Jo, weighing seven pounds, born Feb. 8 at the Harrisburg hospital.

Released Under Bond

Edward Harmon was charged with driving while intoxicated and illegal transportation of liquor yesterday following his arrest by Chief of Police Ross Lane and Harmon, arraigned in county court, pleaded innocent. He was released under $500 bond.

THE CHANNEL SWIM: Gisele MacKenzie Resigns from 'The Hit Parade'

By WILLIAM EWALD United Press Staff Correspondent NEW YORK — The channel swim.

Gisele MacKenzie has resigned from "Your Hit Parade." She'll continue through this season. Gisele has two projects on tap for next semester: The lead in a Her- bert and Dorothy Fields Broadway vehicle, "The Works," and a TV situation comedy.

ABCTV and RKO are close to completing a deal on a package of top quality films, some of them post-1948. The network wants to slot them on Sunday night opposite Ed Sullivan and Steve Allen.

Carlton E. Morse, creator of "One Man's Family," is ill at Glendale Memorial Hospital in California—ileitis is the villain.

Yul Brynner nixed a deal with ABC-TV for next season which would have spotted his directing and acting talents in an hour-long drama series.

"My Friend Flicka," recently put out to pasture by CBS-TV, will return in March as replacement for "Giant Step."

"Omnibus" has an offset one in the works for March 24—Joseph Welch and Agnes DeMille will split the legal-artistic comment on a ballet devoted to Lizzie Borden. Dancer Nora Kaye has been signed for the show.

ABC-TV and Guy Mitchell have reached a verbal agreement on a new half-hour musical series.

Charles Van Doren, "Twenty One's" $122,000 winner, will drop in for another appearance on Steve Allen this Sunday.

Students' scores on the achieve- ment tests will determine the amount of English and mathe- matics instruction they will be re- quired to take during their first year at Southern, Graham said.

Students need not give advance notice for taking the tests, which will be administered without charge. Testing time is two and one-half hours.

"These tests are not entrance examinations," Graham empha- sized, "and only the students' aca- demic advisers will know the re- sults."

Seniors in more than 30 South- ern Illinois high schools also are taking the tests in the University's revised testing program.

In the past, SIU's placement testing has been part of New Stud- ent Week, which comes at the opening of the fall quarter.

"By administering the tests now, we will be ready for advise- ment much earlier than before," Graham said. Testing in other field will remain on the New Stud- ent Week agenda.

Placement tests for area high school seniors planning to enter Southern Illinois University next summer or fall will be adminis- tered at the Harrisburg Township high school Saturday, Feb. 23, at 9 a. m., it was announced today by Dr. Jack W. Graham, co-ordina- tor of the SIU Counseling and Testing Center.

CARBON, ILL. — Thomas J. Abercrombie, staff photographer for National Geographic Magazine, will headline the program for the seventh annual Kappa Alpha Mu Photo Fair at Southern Illinois University February 24.

Abercrombie will discuss "The Newspaper Photographers Friend: the 35mm Camera," speaking on the afternoon program held in connection with the KAM photographic exhibit. His appearance will be jointly sponsored by the SIU department of journalism and the Alpha Gamma chapter of Kappa Alpha Mu, honorary photojournalism fraternity.

The young National Geographic photographer is a native of Stillwater, Minn., attended Macalester College at St. Paul, and worked as a photographer on the staffs of the Fargo, North Dakota, Forum, and the Milwaukee Journal before taking his present position last July. He was picked as Newspaper Photographer of the Year in 1954 by the National Press Photographers Association and the University of Missouri, and by the Wisconsin Press Photographers Association in 1955.

According to Robert E. McMurtree, student president of the SIU Kappa Alpha Mu chapter, the afternoon program will open at 1:30 p. m. in the SIU library auditorium. It will include discussions by specialists on flash photography and color photo printing. The annual photographic exhibit from entries in the Photo Fair competition will be on display in the library foyer February 23-24.

Deadline for entering photos (mounted on standard 16-inch x 20-inch mountboards) will be February 15. The competition includes

4-H Awards For Illinois Girls

Hard work and perseverance brought state-wide recognition and a $50 U.S. savings bond to three Illinois 4-H Club members. They were selected on the basis of their achievement record as well as progress shown in their winning project, 4-H Bread Demonstration. The Extension Service of the University directs the work with the U.S. Department of Agriculture cooperating.

Three teen-agers were named state winners in the 4-H Bread Demonstration program. They are Mary Summers, 18, of New Berlin, and the team of Ellen Sullivan, of Chenoa, and Louella Howell, of Streator, both 15. Each of the girls was presented with a $50 U.S. savings bond provided by Standard Brands. Mary's winning demonstration on French wedding ring climaxed a series of nine demonstrations. Past president and Junior leader of the West Springfield 4-H Club, led by her mother, Mrs. M. B. Summers, she is attending Illinois State Normal University. Ellen and Louella demonstrated how to make pizza pie, using several methods. Ellen's leader is Mrs. Virgil Morris, and Louella's leaders are Mrs. Henry Walling and Mrs. Lester Stasell.

Biggest Percentage of Low-Income Farms Are in Southern Part of State

CARBONDALE, Ill.—A much greater percent of low-income or small farm businesses are in the southern part of Illinois than in the rest of the state, according to a recent survey by Harvey S. Woods, manager of the Southern Illinois University Experimental farm.

Twenty-one percent of the farms in the 11 southern counties of Illinois had sales of less than $1,200 each in 1954. More than one-half of the Illinois farms—83,609—had farm products sales of $5,000 to $25,000 but in the 11 southern counties there were only 1,721 farms in this bracket.

Causes for low income farms are farm income trends and changing technology, Woods says. Low farm income is the result of operators having inadequate resources to allow efficient farming under today's price relationships and technology, he points out. Those with greater available production resources have been able to adapt to the changing conditions with less difficulty.

There are two general types of farm technology. One type, which can be purchased and applied in variable amounts, is just as applicable on the small as on the large farm, such as the use of fertilizers, better seed varieties and better livestock breeding through the use of artificial insemination. These result in increased production at a reduced per-unit cost.

Most Make Adjustments
The other, which includes modern farm machinery, requires large capital outlays per unit and is cost reducing only on large operations and large volume.

Under today's production conditions, the potential income for the small farm and small farm business does not appear highly favorable, Woods says. They do not have the level of living that families on large farm with large businesses have. Most likely the trend toward fewer and larger farms and a declining farm population cannot be reversed. If it were reversed, there would likely be bigger problems of surpluses, lower prices, higher production control costs, and lower levels of living, not only for farmers but for others in our economy.

Increased efficiency in operation is not the only answer because this is just as feasible for the larger operation. Woods says future alternatives for the low-income or small farms seem to depend on more available land and suitable credit for an increase in the size of the farm business; or upon available non-farm jobs that will allow the farmer to accumulate capital so he can enlarge his farming operation or change from farming to non-farming operations.

The family on the small farm today is in trouble not because that size unit has always been too small, but because technological change in recent years has made it inefficient. The public has a responsibility in creating opportunities that will make the alternatives realistic and obtainable for the farm families who must make the adjustments, Woods concludes.

When some couples say "I do" at their wedding, it's the last time they agree on anything.

SIU Country Column

By Albert Meyer

Cheat is a grasslike weed plant familiar to Southern Illinois farmers who grow wheat or other winter grains. It often grows densely along roadsides, bearing bountiful crops of seed for self propagation. Botanists point out that it is an annual plant related to brome grass, maturing between May and July—about the same time that winter grains ripen. Cheat came from Europe.

How it came to have its common name of "cheat" undoubtedly relates to its deceiving early appearance which somewhat resembles the wheat and oats plants, where it turns out to be a grassy weed that robs the farmer of yields of grain. It has been reported that cheat causes the United States farmers a $500,000 loss every year.

Many wheat growers in Southern Illinois likely do not find themselves bothered so much with cheat in their crops now as they did a decade or two ago when they were not boosting their yields so high with thicker stands of wheat and use of fertilizers. Perhaps they have not bothered to wonder about the cause of less noticeable cheat in their winter grain stands, but there seems to be a definite reason in the nature of the plant.

Dr. George H. Dungan, visiting professor of agronomy at Southern Illinois University and for many years an agronomist at the University of Illinois, reports some interesting observations about cheat which were brought out recently in experiments. He collaborated in the work with H. W. Carter and H. W. Norton at U. of I.

Dungan points out that cheat is an opportunistic plant. It isn't killed easily but may be held back under certain conditions. If these are absent, the cheat jumps in quickly and hold on even when the competition is rough.

The experimenters found that the early growth of the cheat plants was slow. Ten-day-old cheat plants had roots only one-fourth as deep as wheat plants of the same age. The tops grew faster than the roots, but even so, the cheat plants were only about one-half as tall as wheat at the end of 10 days.

This weak start puts cheat at a disadvantage if there are plenty of wheat plants surrounding it. Why is this? The men found that sowing wheat at double the normal rate did not kill the cheat plants but it kept them from stooling (making more stems from the same plant roots). Here they found that each cheat seed produced just one stem and only a little seed.

However, in a thin stand of wheat, each cheat seed plant produced three stems with heads of seed. In areas where there was no wheat, the cheat plant stood so much that it averaged eight stems, producing large amounts of seed. Thus, if the farmer obtains a poor stand of winter grains or suffers winter kill, the cheat plants will take advantage of the poorer competition, get a stronger start and produce a lot of nuisance seed.

Dungan gives two or three simple, obvious hints for controlling cheat in winter grains. Use a winter hardy, vigorous variety of winter grain that has been cleaned free of wheat seed. Sow the grain thickly on highly productive soil. Productivity can be assured by maintaining a good fertility program, including soil testing and the addition of such plant nutrients as are needed. This procedure will not eradicate cheat from a cheat-infested field, but it will hold to a minimum the amount of seed this weed pest produces.

Announce Rules for Junior Chicken-Of-Tomorrow Contest

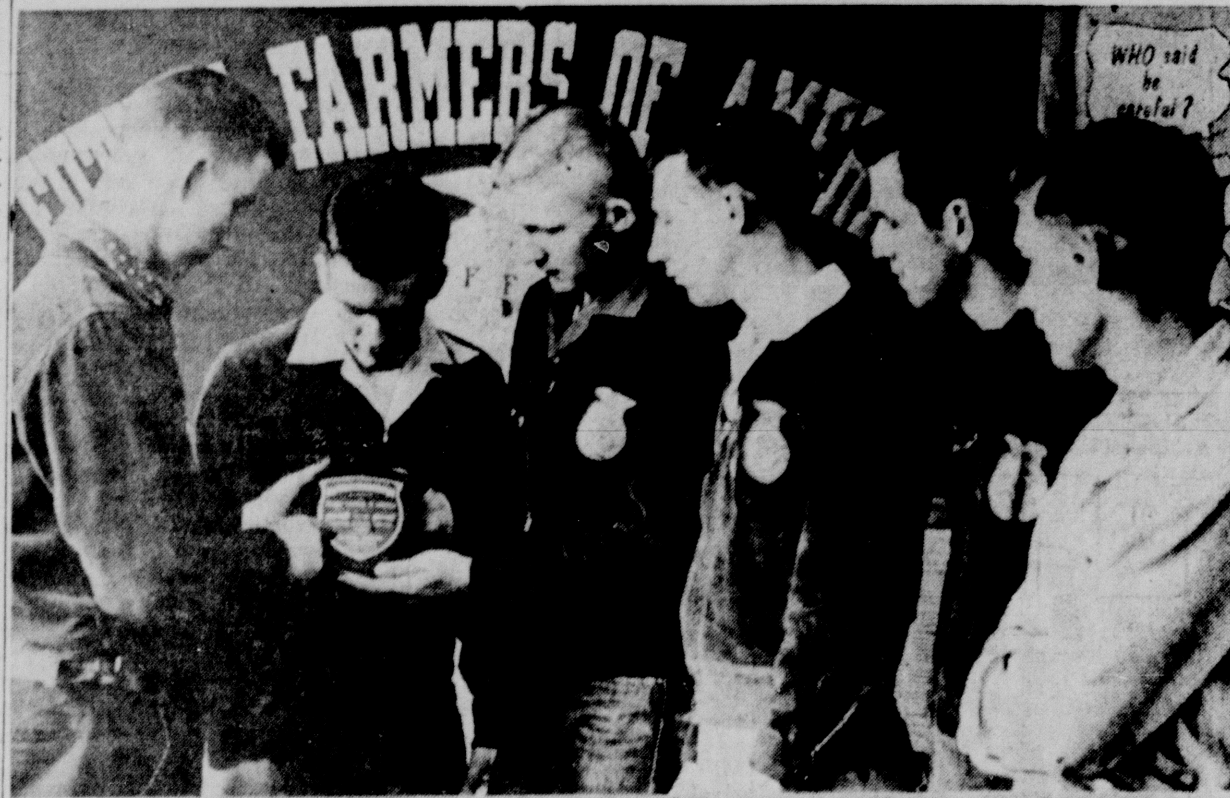

CARBONDALE, Ill.—Southern Illinois 4-H and vocational agriculture youth with poultry projects have an opportunity to participate in the eighth Illinois Junior Chicken-Of-Tomorrow Contest for which rules have just been announced, says Richard Creek, Southern Illinois University poultry specialist who is a member of the 13-member contest committee.

Co-operating sponsors are the Illinois Poultry Improvement Association (which furnishes the awards), the Poultry Division of the State Department of Agriculture, the University of Illinois Extension Division, and SIU. Awards will be given on sectional and state-wide bases.

Contest entries must be made by April 1 to Clarence Ems, Springfield, Poultry Division, Illinois Department of Agriculture. Hatching dates for entries will be April 15-18, and contestants will deliver 10 live cockerels to the judging center at Lincoln (Illinois) June 19. Judges will consider the eight best birds.

For sectional awards the state has been divided into northern, central and southern divisions of equal numbers of counties.

Run extension cords behind base boards or in a metal molding, suggests an extension safety specialist at the University of Illinois.

THE ELDORADO FFA CHAPTER has received from the Illinois Bankers' Association the distinguished activity plaque for having the most outstanding program of work in 1956. This honor came simultaneously with the "Superior" rating award voted for the chapter by the Illinois FFA State Association at Springfield during the State FFA convention. H. C. Bishop, teacher of Vocational Agriculture, commended the chapter members for their splendid cooperation and thrift exhibited during 1956. The plaque will be placed in the Agriculture classroom for a period of thirty days before it is put in the trophy case at the Eldorado high school. The chapter was recognized as one of the top seven chapters in the State of Illinois during the year 1956, and was presented with a certificate of "Superiority", which is indicative of the very fine work completed by the chapter throughout the year. David Coontz, president of the Eldorado FFA chapter, is shown pointing with pride to the plaque, that was won by the chapter members. Those looking on are, from left to right: Joe Unthank, treasurer; Paul Hines, reporter; David Etienne, secretary; Bob Bramlet, vice-president, and Lindell Prather, chapter sentinel.

Notes from Farm Adviser

Storage for Farm Grain

Most farmers of Saline County do a good to fair job producing crops and at least know what it takes to get good yields, but too many dump corn and beans at harvest time on a glutted market.

The elevators are over-loaded—lines of trucks and wagons, lined up to be unloaded. The price is down as a rule. The elevator operator can't buy for more than he can sell and pay expenses so don't blame him for all your trouble.

Those who can store for a few months, often pick up 25 to 50 cents per bushel for both corn and soybeans. This is not always the case, but 75% of the time there is a good return for storage. Storage is necessary for government loan and price support. Storage space for grain is just as important as a tractor, seed, land, and plant food.

Storage cribs and bins may be combined in the same building. Hard lumber framework is good enough and rugged to stand the weight. Overhead tight bins can be unloaded in a truck by opening the chute and closing by hand. Two to three years of returns—average returns, will pay for storage cribs and bins. The bins will cost nothing in the long run—in fact make plenty of money for years after storage has paid for them.

The New Revised Farm Account Book

This book for keeping farm records was changed this year to include social security and simplify farm record keeping. Several copies are now ready at the Farm Bureau Office—cost is only to cover printing and construction. You will need one for your farm records and it's ready any time you ask for it.

Two Extension Meetings In January

(1) Do you need help on Income Tax, Farm Records, and Social Security problems. If you are interested in any of these three subjects, you are welcome to attend a meeting at the city hall in Harrisburg Jan. 14, 1956 (Monday evening) 7:30 p. m. George Whitman from the University of Illinois is the speaker and will answer questions to help you. Mark this date on your calendar and plan to attend.

(2) At 9:30 a. m. January 23, 1956 at city hall, there will be a meeting for those interested in producing meat type hogs. There is a better market for meat with less fat in pork products. Prof. Harry Russell or R. C. Carlisle from the University will be speakers. You may ask questions at this meeting. Mark calendar with this date.

CORN PRODUCTION
I just talked to a farmer who seems to be doing some thinking on soil building and good corn raising. He brought in some soil to be tested. He said a spot in the field in the past rotation produced corn that went down with weak stalks. This may be diseases or lack of potash. This is a low spot in the field and potash usually is leached out in water standing on the land.

This farmer, Guy Whipple, stated that he was using lime, phosphate, clover, and adding potash each two years. He said, "You see I am using complete soil treatment for lime and phosphate which will last 8 or 10 years and only add potash." "What's wrong with that?" "What else is there in fertilizer except nitrogen, phosphate and potash?" "I add the phosphate, grow clover for nitrogen and only add potash instead of spending so much for starter fertilizer."

This is the system advocated by the University research specialists. It's the cheaper in the long run. It produces better than other systems. There are farmers who have only added lime, then they get a big increase where phosphate and potash is used in commercial fertilizer, such as 12-12-12 or 0-9-27 and similar analysis of fertilizer. Anhydrous ammonia and nitrogen products give good increases where legumes are not turned under before corn. I certainly think Guy Whipple has a good idea and is thinking as well as working at the job.

Cut the Worst Trees First

DIXON SPRINGS—Most of every timber grower should be to cut the worst trees first and leave the best for later.

Robert Nelson, extension forester on the staff of the Dixon Springs Experiment Station of the University of Illinois, points out that it costs very little more to grow and harvest a high-quality tree than a low-quality one.

And the difference in price you'll get will more than make up the difference, Nelson says.

For instance, price of white oak saw logs in July and August this year ranged from $18 to $100 per thousand board feet, depending on quality, according to the seventh report on Illinois timber products released recently by the Illinois Crop Reporting Service. White oak prices averaged $46 per thousand board feet compared with $43 for the same period last year, Nelson says.

Red and black oak prices averaged $37 per thousand board feet, the same as last year, but prices paid ranged from $10 to $55 per thousand.

Prices on commercial veneer stumpage averaged higher this year than last, but logs f.o.b. far prices were lower. Container veneers were lower. Stumpage on cooperage and stave bolts were slightly higher, while heading bolts averaged lower.

Illinois farmers with woodland timber can reap the richest harvest only if they have a high-quality product to sell, the extension forester says. They must grow trees that will command the higher prices.

The first step is to protect your woodlands from fire and grazing. Then cut the lower grade and less valuable species of trees first, leaving the higher grade trees to mature.

Soil Bank Acreage Reserve Sign-Up Is Under Way

Agreements signed under the Soil Bank's 1957 Acreage Program for Corn will be entered into on a "First-come, First-served" basis, Sidney Caughey, chairman of the State Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation committee, reminded farmers today.

Allocation of funds for payments under the 1957 Corn Acreage Reserve program for Illinois is $41,824,000. For Saline county the allocation is $114,600. Reserve payments will be in the form of negotiable certificates, redeemable in cash.

Producers on farms which have corn acreage allotments are eligible to take part in the 1957 Corn Acreage Reserve program unless the allotment is a "new farm" allotment for 1957.

Chairman Caughey explained that, at the time farmers file applications to participate in the program, they put up to the maximum acreage in the Acreage Reserve. This maximum, for corn is 20 acres or 30 per cent of the allotment. In no case, however, may this maximum exceed the farm acreage allotment.

Should a farmer wish to enter an acreage larger than the maximum in the program, he should indicate this on the original contract. The additional acreage will be accepted and a new agreement signed if the necessary funds are made available through re-allocation after the program sign-up has closed.

The deadline for signing a corn Acreage Reserve agreement under the 1957 program is March 8, the chairman stated.

Farm landowners may qualify for social security under new amendments to the social security law.

Works Anywhere... Perfectly

Watch it pulverize the hardest ground, smooth your roughest field into a mellow, level seedbed. See it roll over rocks and stumps with ease.

A semiflexible frame and spring-cushioned gangs permit the No. 241 to climb over a stone like a caterpillar. No damage to blades or other parts. Your tractor doesn't have to hoist and drag it across an obstruction. Yet, it's rigid enough, strong enough, heavy enough to cut the toughest surface.

Buy an all-purpose Oliver and you'll have full angle cutting, thorough shredding of trash, accurate depth control in any soil. You'll cross waterways, travel to and from fields easier. You'll get prelubricated, sealed-for-life disc and wheel bearings. Built in four sizes—9½ to 13 feet.

ARE YOU PUZZLED TOO ?

Here is a young lady who's puzzled. She has all the pieces at her fingertips but how to make them fit into the finished pattern—that's her problem.

And it's your problem, too! Life is full of odd pieces which just don't seem to fit into any kind of sensible pattern. There are the odd pieces of sorrow and joy, of suffering and health, of doubt and faith, of evil and good, of death and life, and it sometimes seems as if we never could make them fit into a pattern which makes sense.

And yet there is a pattern for your life—and every life. God knows the pattern and wants to help you find it.

The key to the puzzle of life is a Cross. And the Church, with its message of the Cross of Christ, can help make the odd pieces in the puzzle of your life fall into the finished pattern: a life of confidence and courage and serenity.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

'The Warning and Invitation of Jesus'

Matthew 11:20-30
GOLDEN TEXT: "Come unto me, all ye that labour and are heavy laden, and I will give you rest. Take my yoke upon you, and learn of me; for I am meek and lowly in heart; and ye shall find rest unto your souls." (Matt. 11:28-29)

INTRODUCTION — The invitations of Jesus are not to be taken lightly. When a person refuses to accept an invitation from Jesus, that person is the loser. Whenever one does accept an invitation from Jesus, he takes upon himself certain responsibilities. To fail to carry out those responsibilities is sure to bring judgment upon one's self.

In this particular lesson we find some different attitudes toward the invitations of Jesus.

I SOME FOLKS ACT LIKE CHILDREN (V. 16-19)

Here Jesus paints a word picture. He took a familiar street scene. Some children at play began to complain that other children refused to cooperate in their games. When they played the music, the others refused to dance. When they played football, the others refused to cry and act like mourners.

People today are like that. Approach them about so important a matter as their soul's salvation, and they begin to complain about other people. They are just covering up their rebellion against becoming a Christian. They must suffer the loss. They are childish in their attitude.

II SOME ARE INDIFFERENT (V. 20-24)

Jesus had gone into many cities to preach, teach, heal and do nothing but good. His ministry had been refused. He said that, "It shall be more tolerable for the land of Sodom in the day of judgment than for thee."

Friend, you have heard the invitation of Jesus to come to him many times. His invitation is still extended to you. Knowing what you know and having the light that you now have, if you refuse the invitation of Jesus, judgment is bound to fall upon you one day. Do not be indifferent to the call of God.

III BECOME LIKE A CHILD (V. 25-26)

Every believer in Jesus Christ had to come to God in childlike faith. Just as a child would come to his parents in faith; just so, must you come to God. You must become as a little child in your faith in God. It makes no difference about your educational, social or financial standing. You must humble yourself in His presence, if you expect His blessings upon your life.

CONCLUSION (V. 27-30) You can join Christ in beautiful and wonderful fellowship. You do not have to wait for eternity to begin to enjoy this fellowship. It can begin right now. Christ invites you to: "Come unto me, all ye that are weary and heavy laden. Take my yoke upon you and learn of me, for I am meek and lowly in heart, and ye shall find rest unto your souls; for my yoke is easy, and my burden is light."

Friend, that is Christ's invitation to you now. Accept it and be blessed.
